JONES QUILTS TO STAND FOR LALOR

Labor State parliamentarian Mr. Barry Jones will resign from his seat of Melbourne today (Wednesday) to be eligible for the Lalor pre-selection ballot next Sunday.

This is to comply with a little-known clause in the Commonwealth Electoral Act, which prohibits people already in Parliament from standing for a Federal seat.

In such cases, the act states they must resign "14 clear days before nominations close." Nominations for Lalor close on November 18.

Mr. Jones is one of 14 candidates contesting Sunday's ballot, which according to informed sources is "wide open".

He has been in State Parliament since 1972, and is Opposition spokesman for transport and the arts. Asked what would happen if he lost pre-selection, Mr. Jones replied: "I'll be stiff, won't I."

"If I don't risk my seat, then I'll be out of the race," he added. Mr. Jones, of Union Street, West Brunswick said he would move to the Lalor electorate "with all speed" if he emerges the winner at Sunday's ballot and wins at the December 10 elections.

Although he has never lived in the west, Mr. Jones said he has studied the special problems of the Lalor electorate. "I am familiar with the issues. For example, the transport problem in that area is acute," he said.

The Lalor pre-selection panel of 70 delegates will meet at the Trades Hall next Sunday, November 6.

Sources high up in the Labor Party said since Mr. Clyde Holding withdrew his nomination, the field was thrown "wide open."

But whoever survives the first two of an exhaustive ballot, will win, they said.

To get through the first ballot, Mr. Jones will have to get enough votes to offset the bloc votes of the Deer Park branch for Mr. Jack Arnell and the St. Albans branch for Mr. George Seitz.

It is understood Mr. Jones has been guaranteed re-endorsement for Melbourne, if he should lose the pre-selection ballot.

Jona in Altona

Mr. Walter Jona, the State Minister for Immigration and Ethnic Affairs, will visit the Altona North Migrant Community Centre, on Thursday, at 7 pm.

The State Government recently approved a grant of $3000 to assist the centre and Mr. Jona will be presenting the cheque as well as making an inspection of the centre.

Anyone interested is invited to the centre, which is situated at 78-82 Second Avenue, Altona North.

Building a dream boat

What Robinson Crusoe would have given for a boat of this size and durability to escape the solitude and painfully lonely years he spent imprisoned on an island!

But unlike Robinson, who craved for human companionship, Scottish-born Robert and Hilda Boyd, of Altona North, will be quite happy sailing the high seas — for a time anyway.

The coastal launch

Robert has devoted every spare minute to in the past four years is their ticket to freedom.

Robert, 53, couldn't picture himself gently retiring to the bowling greens. He would much rather be braving the high seas with his wife, Hilda. He is a little unsure of his destination. But what does it matter? "I've got 12 years to think about that," says Robert.

"When I retire from my job (production supervisor at car part maker, Nippondenso, Altona), Hilda and I will probably try Port Phillip Bay, then eventually sail around the Australian coast."

Robert will also have to do a course in coastal navigation.

Because his sailing experience has been confined to a fishing boat up until now.

Robert's coastal launch is 38-feet long and 12 feet wide. It is made out of cement which has been mixed with steel.

Robert says: "The cement lasts longer and is very much cheaper than timber."

To date Robert has spent about $12,000 to build and fit the launch out. It will take another $1000 to move her by cranes (once Robert knocks his fence down) to a Williamstown slipway. The big day will be sometime in March next year.

With champagne-induced smiles, Hilda and Robert will proudly christen her The Mary Allen.

Rose Street backing

Altona Council will back the Residents' Action Group in its bid to stop further multi-unit flat developments from being built in Rose Street.

The council will provide legal representation for the action group, which is objecting to an appeal to the Town Planning Appeals Tribunal for more flat development in Rose Street.

A land developer has made the appeal to the tribunal following Altona council's refusal to grant a permit for multi-unit flats at 42 Rose Street.

The appeal will be heard on Monday, November 7. The action group held a meeting on the footpath outside the proposed flat site last Saturday morning.

About 30 people, including the Altona Mayor, Cr. Doug Grant, and Cr. Alan Shaw, attended the meeting.

Residents at the meeting expressed their concern about the high number of flats already built in Rose Street, and of the persistence of land developers in trying to build more.

The meeting resolved that it was opposed to any further multi-unit development in Rose Street, between Blyth Street and Railway Street South, because of the further load amount of flooding has occurred there since the flats the existing amenities in the area.

The action group claims that flats in the area are largely to blame for the poor water pressure, lack of parking and the regular flooding which occurs in the street.

Cr. Grant said he believed the action group had a case.

"I think they've got more than their fair share of flats already, though from what I've seen some of the flat developments are better than the sub-standard housing units that are sometimes built in their place," he said.

Cr. Grant said that the regular flooding in the lower levels of Rose Street could be caused by the extra storm-water run-off from the large concrete areas around the flats.

"It's obviously a problem, although according to our former city engineer (Mr. R. Simmonds), the drainage system should be adequate for that area."

"Perhaps it is just a coincidence that a fair

Boom gates for bad crossing

Boom gates are to be installed at the Maidstone Road level crossing, which crosses two lives in July this year.

Altona Council has applied to the Victorian Railways for boom barriers to be fitted following a report from the railways on the level crossing (situated near Galvin station).

The report said that the crossing was already fitted with flashing lights, and with good visibility it was difficult to see why it was a problem.

The only valid improvement that could be made to the crossing was boom barriers, said the report.

The council, in deciding to install boom gates at the crossing, also agreed to ask the railways for its views on the installation of boom gates at other level crossings in Altona.

The estimated cost to install boom gates is $150,000 and Altona Council will be required to pay one third ($50,000) of the cost.

'MOUNT STRAND' WILL STAY

The man-made mountain of excavation soil from the Newport power station site at the end of North Road, Williamstown, looks certain to remain there for 12 to 18 months.

The MLA for Williamstown, Mr. Gordon Stirling, was told this week by the Minerals and Energy Minister, Mr. Balfour,

Mr. Stirling asked if complaints had been received from residents of The Strand, Newport, about the dumping.

The Minister replied only one complaint had been received and the person complaining had been told the area would be cleaned up after 12 to 18 months.

The person had indicated satisfaction with this, he said.

Asked why the material had not been stored on the power-station site, Mr. Balfour replied there was no suitable place.

The area where it was dumped had been leased from the Melbourne Harbor Trust specially for that purpose.

The material itself been dredged.

It was expected this work would be done within the next 12 to 18 months, after which the area would be tidied up.

Plastic garbage bags to stay

Altona residents will NOT be deprived of their humble plastic garbage bags.

A request by one of the council's garbage contractors, Mr. J. Wheelahan, to ban the garbage bags has been turned down by Altona Council.

Mr. Wheelahan claimed the bags were:

- A danger to workmen because of glass and other dangerous materials being placed in the bags (one worker has already been injured).

- Impossible to lift in some cases because they vary in size and weight.

- Unhygienic, with dogs often ripping the bags open and spreading garbage over the streets. He said that garbage collectors are sometimes blamed for this mess.

The chief health inspector, Mr. K. King, pointed out that the council by-laws concerning garbage disposal did not include plastic bags and that the contractor had a right to complain.

Cr. Dan Duane said: "We have to be very wary here, I think the contractor has a good point... the garbage men do get blamed for the rubbish in the streets, perhaps the ranger could make a check and pick up the dogs responsible for scattering the rubbish."

Altona town clerk, Mr. Sid Fell, said it would be "impossible" to get the rangers to patrol the garbage routes early in the morning.

"Often they work till midnight, they have to get their time-off," he said.

Mr. Fell also pointed out that the garbage men could use thick gloves which would stop them from being cut if broken glass was put in the bags.

In rejecting Mr. Wheelahan's request, the council also decided to amend its by-law to include plastic garbage bags.

Plastic garbage bags, conforming to the specifications of the Australian Standards Association, have been approved by both the Commission of Public Health and the Federated Municipal Employees' Union.

Housing estate plan rejected

The Housing Commission's latest plans for the Paisley Estate, off Mason Street, have been rejected by Altona Council.

The commission's new proposal was to build 165 units at the site, which would accommodate 543 people.

The council rejected the proposal following comments by the town planning officer, Mr. F. Darke, that the density rate was too high.

The council had conditionally agreed to an early proposal put forward by the commission for 144 units to be built, accommodating 466 people.

"Council approved in principle of the previous proposal at a higher density than the code requirement, it seems unreasonable to further increase the density," said Mr. Darke.

Bike club

Altona Council has given permission for the Altona Junior Motor Cycle Club to borrow its bulldozer and heavy grader.

The club has a small track on PRA land off Kororoit Creek Road and plan to extend the track in preparation for a charity race meeting in aid of the St. John's Ambulance Brigade, on Sunday, December 18.

Road noise

A deputation, representing residents from Kyle Road, Altona North, attended a recent general purposes committee meeting.

The residents have complained to the council about noise pollution, allegedly coming from the nearby Aquila Steel factory.

After talking to the deputation, the council agreed to write to Aquila Steel Pty. Ltd. and inform them of the feelings of the residents and to pay attention to noises arising from the factory.

Further the council said that it "regards these matters as indicating a poor community attitude and requires them to be abated as a matter of urgency."

The council requested that Aquila Steel cease operation at 10 pm relocate generators to another site in the factory grounds, reduce the use of sirens, and to stop the idling of trucks for long periods.

Life Governor

Mr. Albert Ralph, of Romawi Street, Altona, has been nominated by Altona Council for Life Governorship of Altona District Hospital.

Mr. Ralph was nominated by council in recognition of his services to the community, including St. John's Ambulance service and the Altona Senior Citizens' Club.

For aged

Altona Council will give a further $3000 to the Salvation Army's aged persons' hostel in Altona.

The Salvation Army recently launched a $42,000 appeal for furnishings for the hostel, which is expected to be completed before Christmas.

The council had previously given $15,500 towards the cost of the $1.1 million hostel.

Strike relief

The council has injected a further $1000 into the Citizens of Altona Emergency Relief Fund, because of the recent power strike.

The mayor, Cr. Doug Grant, said that although the strike was now over, the situation was likely to get critical in some cases as people were still without jobs and their bank balances were running low.

He stressed that the fund would mainly be concerned with providing food vouchers and only in extreme cases would cash be given.

Thank-you's

Altona Council will send letters of thanks to Mr. H. Knox and Mr. B. Russon for their work at the Altona Senior Citizens' Club.

Mr. Knox was the club secretary for many years before stepping down this year due to poor health, while Mr. Russon drove the club's bus for 10 years.

Around the schools

Dental clinics are being built at 12 primary schools in the west at the total cost of $840,000.

Each clinic will be manned full time by a dental therapist and an assistant.

They will offer free dental services, such as fillings and extractions to school children. The emphasis of the programme is the promoting of general teeth care. One of the clinics — at Kingsville Primary School is already operating.

The other 11 will start early next year. These are at Footscray (Hyde Street), Williamstown North, Altona East, Altona Gate, Altona West, Sunshine Heights, Glenunga, Sunshine West, Sunshine North, St. Albans Heights, St. Albans East and Stevensville, St. Albans.

Day classes are being held at the school for adults who wish to study form five or six subjects.

Some of these include: Accounting, Australian history, economics, english expression, english literature, home economics, legal studies, mathematics, politics and biology.

The adults who have enrolled at the school in the past have been very successful.

This year about half of the school's HSC students have been adults. Point Gellibrand High School is in Bayview Street, Williamstown.

The party also visited Tidbinbilla tracking station, the War Memorial, National Library, Royal Mint and Institute of Anatomy.

Mr. Ron Smith, vice-principal said the trip was a great success and they plan more in future.

CHILDREN'S WEEK

Most schools in Williamstown, Newport and Spotswood held special events and displays last week, to celebrate International Children's Week.

At Paisley High, senior students put on a lunch-time drama on Wednesday, attended by all the school. And on Thursday, watched a videotaped puppet show loaned by the Australian Performing Group.

The week culminated in a visit by Williamstown's recreation officer, Ms. Patsy O'Dowd and a local youth worker. They held an hour's discussion with students about recreational activities for youths in the area.

ST. MARY'S

With 22 nationalities represented at St. Mary's, the school's Children's Week celebrations had an international flavor.

On Tuesday, Grade 6 students and some parents sat down to a "Maltese national dinner." Wednesday was celebrated with a kite

Paul's on the ball

Altona North baseballer Paul Malthouse, 12 (pictured) is following in his brother's footsteps.

He has been selected in the Victorian under-13 baseball team, for which big brother Darren was picked twice.

The Victorian team will play in Tasmania in January.

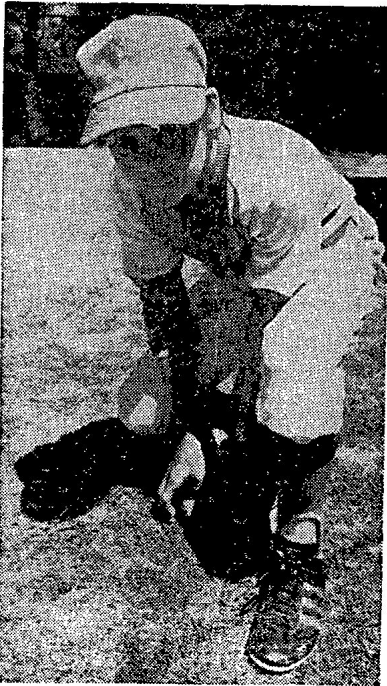

Paul's hoping that he'll receive a certificate of merit from Altona Council like the one Darren has hanging in his room.

Paul, like his brother, plays for the Newport Baseball Club.

Last year he won the "most-valuable player" award but he was still surprised to be selected in the Victorian team.

He's a short-stop, out-fielder and batter.

A student at Altona East Primary School, he plays cricket, football and basketball as well, but says they don't really compare with baseball.

His father, David, coaches the Newport under-13 team and his mother, Barbara, has been supporting the club longer than she cares to remember.

Three of her brothers have played for the club — one of them, Barry Ockwell, was in last year's A-grade premiership team.

She admits to influencing her sons to take up the sport and play for Newport.

"I've already got Craig, my third son, signed up to start with the club in November, 1978," she said. And Craig is only seven.

Railway Place quagmire

A grassed area of Railway Place, Williamstown, becomes a "quagmire" after heavy rain, Mrs. J. Wright has told Williamstown Council.

The area was from the boundary of Williamstown High School to Vulcan Grove, Mrs. Wright wrote.

After heavy rain, water remained there for days and became stagnant and green and as many as eight horses were often tethered there.

Her request for the area to be filled with soil was referred to the environment director, Mr. Garnet Price, and chief health surveyor, Mr. Noel Hawthorn.

Intersection

A complaint about safety at the intersection of Giffard and Osborne streets, Williamstown, has been referred to Mr. Price for a report.

The Road Safety and Traffic Authority told the council the complaint had been received from a resident of Williamstown.

Handicapped

The Williamstown Rotary Club was working towards a major project involving a facility for handicapped children councillors were told.

The information was in a report from the council's social planner, Mr. Bob Sercombe, who said he had been assisting the club.

A residential unit offering facilities for temporary relief for families with a handicapped child was preferred, he added.

The council decided to commend the club on the project.

Safety fence?

The Victorian Railways will be asked to erect a child-proof fence facing Railway Parade, Newport, between Challis Street and Maddox Road. Decision to make the request was made by the council on the resolution of Cr. Eddis Smith.

Pier stone

Williamstown Historical Society reminded the council nothing had been done about a decision to place the foundation stone of Breakwater Pier in Commonwealth Reserve, Nelson Place, Williamstown.

The council had agreed in February to do this, the society's letter said.

The matter was referred to the environment director, Mr. Garnet Price.

Resignation

The resignation, from November 25 of the deputy city librarian, Mrs. D. Dow, was accepted by the council with regret.

In her letter of resignation, Mrs. Dow thanked the council for the opportunity of working for Williamstown.

Building permits

A total of 20 building permits for works estimated to cost $99,995 had been issued since the previous meeting, the council was told.

Works include building a factory, extensions to houses, re-cladding roofs, replacing fences, cladding houses, alterations and extensions to buildings and installation of a swimming pool.

Pam's Column

HI GIRLS,

Do you have trouble with your make-up in the hot summer months? It seems that, whatever make-up you put on, you still get that oily shine. Well, Coty has the answer to this problem, they call it "The Perfect Summer Make-up", what else! This make-up stays on in the hottest, most humid weather, it contains a sunscreen to protect against the sun's burning and drying rays, even in the water or on the beach, and it's waterproof, prevents oily shine and resists perspiration. Covers smoothly and evenly. Specially formulated with moisturising proteins to prevent streaking, caking or collecting in the pores.

Coty's "Perfect Summer Make-up" can be used on face, normal and oily skins, and is available in six shades — sheer beige, peachpetal, golden beige, tawny beige, sunny tan and summer bronze.

Also from Coty at the moment, we have a great special on their popular Wild Musk Spray and Wild Musk Compact. Most of you will know this fragrance by now; if not, pop in and try it. Girls, do you or your hubby have a smoking problem? Why not try the new Medi-Holder? It's a four-step, eight-week withdrawal system that lets you withdraw from smoking the way you started — gradually. At that point you are best able to stop smoking altogether.

Satura have their Moisture Lotion with vitamin A on special. Usually $3.00 for a 50 ml bottle, now only $2.00 for a 50 g tube. This fabulous lotion contains 56,000 IU of vitamin A per ounce, and a new, protective ingredient to soften, smooth and moisturise. Vitamin A helps ward off dryness and flakiness. Satura Moisture Lotion puts a protective film on the skin to prevent escape of moisture. Humidant work to draw moisture from the air on to the skin to help keep it moist and dewy looking. Ideal for all skin types.

Girls, 10 per cent off any of the above products if you cut out this week's column and bring it in.

They're being shown at the monthly meeting of the Footscray-Yarraville group of the Nursing Mothers' Association of Australia, at the Salvation Army Hall, Queen Street, Altona, starting 8 pm.

Guest speaker Pauline Evans of the Childbirth Education Association, will introduce the films.

Entry is free, and everyone is welcome.

Latest print readership survey proves you reach . . .

. . . of all housewives through Suburban Newspapers!

For the second year in a row, the Print Readership Survey conducted by McNair Anderson in the Melbourne Statistical Division has revealed Suburban Press as the most widely read print media.

The only difference between this year's study and last year's is that the gap between Suburbans and the Metropolitan Daily Newspapers has widened.

McNair's estimate that on average, 1,472,000 people (over the age of 13 years) read at least one Melbourne Suburban Newspaper each week.

This is 256,000 readers more than their nearest competition, the Melbourne "Sun".

It is also estimated that Suburbans are read by 186,000 more housewives than "The Sun" each week, or 78% of the possible 850,000 Melbourne housewives.

In other words Suburbans have captured 22% more of the housewives market than "The Sun".

WHY IS THIS SO?

There are two main reasons.

1. The Suburban concentrates on things of real importance to the Householder.

As our city expands into the suburban sprawl our communities are forming themselves into autonomous regions. The Suburban then becomes the hub of that wheel. It is in fact the only media that is fulfilling the needs of our communities.

2. Suburbans are accessible — placed freely each week into the paperholders with blanket distribution.

Business people of every size and kind know the importance of getting their message inside the home.

Suburbans can personally introduce you to more homes than any other print media.

Werribee teams still unbeaten

Five Werribee teams still remain unbeaten after the second round of competition last Saturday, and although our U/17A team was disappointingly beaten by Essendon, all other teams performed particularly well in very good conditions for running.

The best run of the day, or should I say walk of the day, was Denis Bunworth in the open B grade 1500 metres walk with a time of 6 min. 38.8 sec., which not only broke the under-19 Werribee record but also the open record. Denis will have a good chance for a medal in the Victorian championships coming up in January.

Another Werribee record was broken by Graeme Ball in the 110 metres high hurdles with a time of 19.2 sec.

A very welcome face found in the Werribee area last Saturday was that of Paul Delaney. Paul, who ran last Friday for his school, Assumption College, Kilmore, in the A.P.S. sports, came out again on Saturday and ran second for Werribee in the 200 metres with a time of 23.0 sec.

Other good performances were recorded by Ray Matthews in the open shot put and discus, both of which he won convincingly.

Stephen Thomas again showed his athletic ability by finishing first in the open 5000 metres with a time of 16 min. 5 sec., and third in both the 400 metres hurdles and the 800 metres.

Peter Bunworth won the 400 metres hurdles with a personal best time of 58.4 sec., and running second in the 800 metres.

Roy Thomas competed well in both the 1500 metres walk, 7 min. 45 sec., and the 5000 metres with a time of 18 min 37 sec.

And not forgetting John Curry, apart from complaining, has been competing especially well in all events, mainly the middle distance and sprint events.

Werribee juniors to compete well were Eddie Harmon in the shot put and 90 metres hurdles.

Paul Kennedy in the 200 metres and 800 metres; Mark Thomas who has been showing great form in the walk, 90 metres hurdles and 800 metres.

Antonio Carlesso in the javelin and 200 metres; Greg Tatt blitzing the opposition in the 200 metres with a time of 23.7 sec.

Another good aspect of Saturday's competition was Werribee relay performances, winning relay teams being open B grade and our three U-13 teams. We're all sure with a bit of baton-changing practice we will do much better.

Other notable performances were recorded by Graham Martin, David Harper, Shane Ross, Gerold Hart, John and Wayne Pengelly, Mykel Gard, David Idda, Ken Smith, Gerrard and Anthony Bended, Charlie Hogdorn, Scott and Dane, Salter, John Wilson, Jamie Stewart, Francis Kennedy, Glen Rogers, Vincent Bunworth, Darren Farquar and Luc Anthian.

The Werribee club is looking forward to the following athletes to return from injuries: Wayne Bingham, Gerrard Halliham, Larry Ross and Frank Bended.

Athletes, don't forget to contact selectors as soon as possible if you are unavailable to run due to injuries, sickness or commitments.

Training Monday and Wednesday nights at Galvin Park at 5.15 pm, and anyone interested in joining the club could either come up training on the above mentioned nights or contact Graham Martin on 749 2209.

It's not too late to join yet, so come along.

Stirrer of the week - Robyn Adair.

Coker second in federation pigeons

Last Saturday's race, the classic five hundred mile was flown from Carrieton, S.A. an actual airline distance of 527 miles and it turned into a triumph for Harold Coker.

The birds were released into a south-east headwind, and it became a question of the fittest birds reaching home after spending two days in the baskets in high temperatures.

No birds made it home on the day in the Federation, but Harold Coker's bird was in on the Sunday at 5.38 am - about 20 minutes after sunrise, which makes one realise that his bird nearly made it home on the day.

He finished second, beaten by four metres in the Federation, which was an outstanding effort.

Most members had one or two birds home on the Sunday, but there are still a lot of empty perches, proving how difficult the race turned out.

RESULTS (7 fliers, 142 birds).

A. and H. Coker's Blue Bar Hen, 966 metres per minute, 1st; J. Baird & Son's Blue Chequer Hen, 839 mpm, 2nd; F. Harrison's Blue Chequer Hen, 690 mpm, 3rd; M. Tottle, 682 mpm, 4th; G. Branigan, 648 mpm, 5th; N. and V. Pollard, 595 mpm, 6th.

Next Saturday's race is a special race from Bookaloo, an airline distance of 600 miles, and birds will be basketed at 7 pm Wednesday evening.

As this clashes with the monthly meeting - the first Wednesday of the month - it will be held on Friday evening at 7.30 in the clubrooms.

SWING SLOWER IF HANDS SEPARATE

Study illustration #1 and note how snugly the thumb of the left hand fits against the meaty pad of the right thumb. This is the main point of contact between the two hands. For consistent shotmaking, it must remain constant throughout your swing.

The main danger point in the swing is at the top of your backswing (illustration #2). Check to see if you are holding your contact point between the hands intact (illustration #3).

If your hands are separating at this juncture, it's probably because you are swinging too fast. Slow down your backswing until you can "set" your hands into position at the top without their tending to move apart.

SEAGULLS STAR THEN FLOP

Williamstown were a disastrous 6/25 at stumps after having dismissed the strong Coburg side for 121.

Will's only hope of saving the match lies with their skipper Barry Watson, who was 8 not out at the close.

Earlier Watson had given Williamstown a great chance of victory when he took 7/34 with his medium pacers.

At one stage, Coburg were 3/5 and later 7/35 before a late order revival lifted their score to respectability.

Coburg's score of 121 didn't look a big score to get but almost immediately Williamstown started their innings, disaster struck.

Fowler was caught behind for a duck, and that proved to be the start of a procession for the top order Williamstown batsmen.

O'Brien, Blake and Sandri also recorded ducks.

But the ANA batsmen 55 of them from Rowe. The second XI battled first against a strong St. Bernard's side and knocked up 129, top scores coming from Peter Howarth, 47; Willie Collins, 29 and Brett McTaggart 21.

St. Bernard's were well placed at the end of the day, with 77 in hand for the loss of one wicket.

The ANA juniors clashed with Laverton, who managed a good 177.

Best ANA bowlers were Duckworth 4/10; Hrgovic 3/55. ANA replies with 1/41 at the end of the day, Mike McDonald an unbeaten 22. A close battle seems certain next week.

Newport's innings opened quietly, but apart from Evan Rowe wickets fell regularly and ANA went for a meagre 76.
